

LIBRARY AND CONGREGATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER

The CTS library holds more than 220,000 items basic to theological education. It collects nearly 1,300 periodicals and theological journals in various languages. The library provides support for educational technologies including video and computer projectors, audio tapes, CD ROMs and image scanners. The media center of the library and other classrooms have been equipped with technologies for enhancing teaching and learning.

The library houses books, manuscripts, photographs, tracts, periodicals and other materials dealing with the history of the Disciples and the Restoration Movement. It is one of the primary collections of such materials. Students of Discipiana will find ample resources for special studies, including copies of known Ph.D. theses on Disciples history and thought.

By reciprocal arrangement and through the Private Academic Library Network of Indiana (PALNI), CTS students have access to the Butler University Library and to 24 other private university and seminary libraries in Indiana. Electronic catalogues and indices, as well as an interlibrary loan program, provide access to most materials in academic and public libraries in the United States. The seminary library's catalog of books and materials is available via the CTS web site on the Internet.

The Congregational Resource Center (CRC) is an ecumenical resource center serving local and regional clergy and lay leaders. It is supported through the covenantal, cooperative efforts of seven Indiana/Indianapolis area ecclesiastical judicatories, churches and CTS. The supporting partners are the Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Indiana, the Indiana Kentucky Conference of the United Church of Christ, Indiana-Kentucky Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the Pentecostal Assemblies of the World, the Presbytery of Whitewater Valley, and the United Methodist Churches of Indianapolis (East and West Districts). These denominations and CTS share in sustaining and promoting the CRC.

The materials at the CRC are available to congregations and individuals free of charge.

Contact the Library and CRC:

CIRCULATION .....(317) 931-2361
 CRC.....(317) 931-2360
 DIRECTOR .....(317) 931-2365
 OFFICE MANAGER .....(317) 931-2370
 PUBLIC SERVICES .....(317) 931-2367
 SERIALS/ARCHIVES .....(317) 931-2368
 TECHNICAL SERVICES.....(317) 931-2366

Visit the library on the web at www.cts.edu

BOOKSTORE

The CTS Bookstore is far more than a source for textbooks. Serving central Indiana and further afield as an educational resource for living and thinking about the Christian faith in today's world, its inventory of nearly 8,000 titles reflects a wide spectrum of viewpoints. Traditional areas of concentration, such as theology, biblical studies, church history, ethics, pastoral care, homiletics, worship, leadership, education, and spirituality are kept up to date as are works in philosophy, gender studies, psychology, Judaica, Africana, Latino/Latina, religion and the arts, and world religions. This full-service bookstore tries to be responsive to the needs of all customers. Students and visitors are welcome to stop in with questions or to browse during store hours.

SPECIAL ORDERS

If the bookstore does not carry a book, staff can tell you promptly if the book is still in print. It usually can be ordered without an advance deposit. Most orders are filled within two weeks. Overnight or second-day delivery incurs additional shipping costs. Books may be ordered online at our webstore, www.cts.edu/bookstore.

DISCOUNTS AND SALES

Among the bookstore's variety of discounts, the most popular is the frequent buyer discount. Buyers who spend more than $200 at the bookstore qualify for a 30% discount on a future purchase. Collectors receive a 30% set discount on an entire set of commentaries or other reference works.

CHARGE ACCOUNTS AND CONSIGNMENTS

Churches and other nonprofit organizations may set up tax-exempt charge accounts. In most cases, the account can be used on the same day. Faculty, staff and students enrolled in any CTS degree program are assigned an account number that may be used for book purchases. It must be paid off by the end of each semester. The bookstore also accepts almost all credit and debit cards, checks, and cash.

Organizations with an account are welcome to take books out on consignment to sell or display at events away from the seminary and are not charged for any books returned in salable condition. With advance notice, bookstore staff can put together a consignment order. They are glad to order extra books, given a fair likelihood that the returned books can be sold. Contact the bookstore by telephone at (317) 931-2377, by e-mail at bookstore@cts.edu or on the web at www.cts.edu.

